4th Street Studios has opened its doors for events. With its handsome interior, and large open floor plan, 4th Street Studios is perfectly designed for the corporate branding meeting, special product announcement, fashion show, wedding or other celebrations that are deserving of a more unique venue than the typical hotel environment.

The spacious Main Staging area is the seminar, show, demonstration or meeting "space within the space." The kitchen lounge area is comfortably intimate. But the special additional feature is a true micro art gallery showcasing the fine art of highly respected commercial artists.

What is Velcro Gallery?

No, it's not a gallery of various rough cloth strips that are stuck to the wall. We call it Velcro Gallery because all of the artwork is attached to the walls using Velcro instead of nails and hooks. It's a fun and unique way of displaying art. But the coolest part is that Velcro Gallery is a special showcase for personal art created by commercial artists. From film directors, animators, stylists, photographers, even writers or dancers or producers. Every type of commercial artist.

is the concept of commercial artist Mel Lindstrom, who one day awakened to the realization that you can get so busy with "work" as to lose touch with the passion for art that you loved so much. So Velcro Gallery was born. Since it is inside a busy video studio, the work can be experienced by both patrons and contemporaries alike. We have found that some of the most appreciative viewers are other commercial artists who then wish to rekindle their own artistic passions. That's because, at Velcro Gallery, it's all about the art. So join our mailing list and come for a visit to see the artistic yearnings commercial artists.
